

RAIL HEADS TO SUBMIT COUNTER PROPOSAL

EXECUTIVES HOLD TO ARBITRATION

Plan Will Be Presented to President Wilson
This Morning

EXPECT CRISIS BY NOON

Brotherhood Leaders State Men
Will Not Wait Longer Than
Tonight for Reply

PUT ISSUE UP TO THE MEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—After the heads of the four great railroad brotherhoods threatening a nation wide strike had gone to the white house today with a warning that their men would not wait longer than tomorrow night for a reply from the railroad executives to President Wilson's suggestion that an eight hour day be granted, the executives tonight agreed upon a counter proposal to be presented to the president tomorrow. This plan, holding to arbitration the employees have declared they unalterably oppose, proposes proposals of executives.

That the question of an eight hour day is not directly connected with the matter at issue and that there is a difference between an actual eight hour day and an eight hour day as a basis for pay.

That the questions of increases of wages are indisputably questions which should be settled by arbitration.

That the present demands of the railmen be submitted to arbitration by the interstate commerce commission or some board to be created by the president or in some other way.

That if the arbitrating board finds wage increases should be granted their finding will be retroactive will take effect from the time the arbitration begins.

That a fund shall be created by the railroads to provide for this contingency, the interstate commerce commission to keep the accounts that will be necessary and the arrangement to continue in force for a time not yet determined upon, the men agreeing that during the period of arbitration there shall be no further demands nor any attempt to strike.

A draft of this report was submitted tonight by the committee of eight presidents who have been constantly at work upon its various phases for a week.

Will be Final Word

There was some discussion but only one vote was taken and by it the sixty presidents and the managers approved the draft. Some slight additions to the phraseology are to be made and the final draft presented at another meeting tomorrow morning. From that meeting the report is expected to be taken to President Wilson. It was said tonight this will be the final report of the executives.

"It puts the issue squarely up to the men," was the way one of the officials phrased it.

The crisis in the situation is expected by noon tomorrow, when the president has an engagement to see the brotherhood leaders.

Some of the executives said that while the proposal would not give the more than twenty percent increase in wages provided for in effect in President Wilson's plan it probably would give an increase of more than ten percent.

Through the discussion the executives took the position that the question of the eight hour day was entirely one of wages rather than principle. They said tonight they never had voted formally on president Wilson's plan as a whole but all of their discussion had shown that it could not be accepted in its entirety. The plan now agreed on will be the first presented by the executives since the negotiations began.

Men Plainly Against Arbitration

Leaders of the brotherhood could not be reached tonight for discussion of the railroad's proposals but among the men the sentiment was plainly against the idea of arbitration. The fact, however, that the railroads have made a proposal was taken as an encouraging sign that this might form the basis for further negotiations. One of them said as a consequence he expected the discussion to continue until the middle of next week or possibly longer.

TELLS HOW MORRISON ADOPTED TWO GIRLS

ELDER OF TWO GIRLS IS PLACED ON WITNESS STAND

Testifies Her Dead Mother Wished
Adoption—Girl Will Resume the Stand When Case is Re-opened Tuesday.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—How Edward R. Morrison, eccentric millionaire whose estate is under investigation in Federal Judge Landis' court, adopted two girls, of whose parentage their supposed father, Jacob Burnstein, has accused him, was told on the witness stand today by one of the girls herself. The witness was Margaret Burnstein Morrison, 16 years old.

The court room was crowded when Margaret and her young sister Alice, accompanied by Mrs. Anna Briggs, Morrison's housekeeper, were brought in by bailiffs.

The girl's testimony followed revelations indicating that the aged millionaire had paid thousands of dollars to an organized gang of blackmailers, had loaned money freely on "I.O.U.'s" of irresponsible persons and had paid huge sums for questionable amusements.

Margaret said she had been legally adopted by Morrison and had lived since May 19th, 1916 at the Morrison home.

"What do you know about the adoption?" Judge Landis asked.

"I know it was my mother's wish," "Did Mr. Morrison ever say anything to you about his property?"

"No," the witness answered.

"Or about plans for your future?"

"He said he would take us and give us an education."

Margaret will resume the stand when the case is re-opened Tuesday.

Alice, the younger of the girls, ran to the aged millionaire's seat in the court room just as Landis adjourned court, grasped Morrison's hand and refused to leave his side, for several minutes.

Court room attaches remarked at the contrast in the appearance of the two girls.

Margaret is plump, rosy cheeked and dimpled. Alice is slender, pale and has very dark eyes.

Morrison's estate was thrown into bankruptcy proceedings after an assignment of sale of much of his property to James R. Ward, an attorney. His estate was estimated to be worth about $8,000,000, but so far, the only tangible assets found were an apartment building worth about $100,000, a collection of old coins and $11 in cash.

INVITE HUGHES TO ATTEND G. O. P. CONVENTION AT PEORIA

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—The three Republican candidates for the nomination for governor of Illinois, Frank O. Lowden, Frank L. Smith and Morton D. Hull, today joined with Chairman Fred E. Sterling, chairman of the Republican state committee in sending a letter to Alvin T. Hart, manager of the Republican national Republican headquarters inviting Charles E. Hughes to attend the adjourned session of the Republican convention at Peoria, Sept. 19th, and then go to the state fair at Springfield, the same afternoon to speak at the Republican celebration. The plan is to have all the delegates of the convention accompany Mr. Hughes on a special train to the state fair. If Mr. Hughes cannot make the trip the state leaders will insist that either Charles Warren Fairbanks, candidate for vice president, or Theodore Roosevelt take his place.

Manager Hart telegraphed Chairman Willcox of the Republican national committee in New York urging him to use his influence in having Mr. Hughes accept the invitation.

ENEMY FLEET WITHIN STRIKING DISTANCE OF SANDY HOOK

Defending Forces in Naval War
Game Sight Scouts of "Red" Fleet
—Navy Department Intercepts Messages.

Washington, Aug. 25.—The "red" enemy fleet was within striking distance of Sandy Hook tonight, its scouts having been sighted by the "blue" defending forces in the naval war game at 11 a. m. today, 120 miles off Barnegat Inlet. This information reached the navy department in intercepted messages passing between Rear-Admiral Rhoda and the "blue" flagship Rhode Island, and the ships of his command.

The "red" scouts were heading west, the message showed, and navy officials said Admiral Mayhew undoubtedly was straining every resource to locate the main "red" fleet under Admiral Mayo and the transport train that is bringing a hypothetical army of invasion. If the "blue" scouts were successful in gathering positive information before darkness complicated their task it was believed Admiral Helm would make a night "attack" upon the most vulnerable element of the "reds."

The position and course of the "red" scouts indicate that Admiral Mayo might be making a dash for some landing point either near New York or at Delaware Bay. His scouts were about between those two points when sighted. The fact stood out sharply that despite the blue line of scouts thrown out by the "blue" commander the "red" fleet has driven to within 120 miles of the nation's most important seaport without having been intercepted.

However, should the "red" fleet evade the battleships of the "blue" squadrons, Admiral Mayo will still have an inner guard of submarines to contend with. Admiral Helm has fifteen underwater fighters based at three main bases between Cape Hatteras and Eastport, Maine. Their exact location is not known.

HUGHES ARGUES FOR PROTECTIVE TARIFF

Addresses Audience at Frontier Park at Chyenne, Wyo.

HEARERS SHIVER IN COLD

Nominee Emphasizes the Fact
That He Represents a Re-
United Party

STARTS FOR DENVER TODAY

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 25.—Charles E. Hughes tonight addressed an audience at Frontier Park here on the importance of upbuilding American industries to meet European competition after the war. This he said could not be done under a tariff for revenue only, but could be accomplished under a protective tariff such as the Republican party proposed. Mr. Hughes spoke to an audience that shivered in the cold night air, notwithstanding heavy wraps and overcoats. The nominee was half an hour late in starting his address. In beginning he emphasized the fact that he represented a reunited party.

"We have set aside our differences in order that we may achieve great national aims," Mr. Hughes said. "These aims are so high that they transcend every possibility of difference. I come as the spokesman of an historic party reconstructed to its best ideals and pledged to the service of this great nation at an extremely critical time."

"The problems that we are facing today are not exactly like those which we have dealt with in the past. We are entering upon a new era of history."

"The upbuilding of American industry lies at the very foundation of the future of the United States. It can never be done under an administration that frames its tariff for revenue only."

Mr. Hughes reiterated his declaration that he favored the appointment only of competent, experienced men to the diplomatic service. He also assailed the administration's foreign policy and cited its course toward Mexico as a "conspicuous example of what we ought not to do."

A troop of cowboys led the way from Cheyenne hotel to Frontier Park, whooping as they galloped along. In their dust came the nominee and Mrs. Hughes, in the first of a string of automobiles. The night was cold and the audience wore overcoats and heavy wraps.

Mr. Hughes spoke from a rough board stand hammered together late today facing the grandstand.

During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Hughes held a reception at the hotel, meeting the women voters of Cheyenne. Later they visited the almost deserted army post nearby, Fort D. A. Russell. After the night meeting there was another brief reception at the hotel and the nominee, thoroughly fatigued, retired to his car which will be held over in the railroad yards here until 5 a. m., tomorrow, when the start to Denver will be made.

LAFF IN DECATUR STATES HUGHES CAMPAIGN IS A SUCCESS

DECATUR, Ills., Aug. 25.—Ex-President William Howard Taft, here tonight while on a chautauqua tour said "Judge Hughes' campaign is a success. He has laid a foundation of good will on the Pacific coast and has laid it early. I did not go into the west in 1906 until the middle of September. Judge Hughes in going early has helped his chances remarkably."

Mr. Taft was a guest at a luncheon here given by congressman W. B. McKinley, who in discussing compulsory training said: "I am a believer in compulsory military training in the schools. I've changed my ideas about armies since Germany went into Belgium in 48 hours. I do not believe that our militia ever again will be used for such purposes as it is being now."

Mr. Taft spoke today at the Teylorville chautauqua and will deliver an address on the projects of the international league to enforce peace at Walden Springs, near Chilton, Ills., Saturday.

War News Summarized

Apparently from the French statement, the allied troops do not plan an advance on the right wing, as British cavalry detachments are reported to have destroyed bridges across the Angista river. On the left wing Paris reports "appreciable" progress for the Serbians and the capture of several hundred prisoners. In the center where the main effort of the allies is expected, heavy artillery action is taking place but there is no report of infantry operations.

The lull on the eastern front continues but the renewed offensive by the Grand Duke Nicholas in Armenia is growing in extent. The recent fighting in the region of Lake Van is described in Petrograd as a crushing blow to the Turks and Russian military critics predict the resumption of the Grand Duke's advance toward Asia Minor.

The usual period of comparative inactivity has followed the western front gains reported by Paris and London, and partly confirmed by Berlin. The Germans have, however, attempted a new blow at the French at the point of the famous St. Mihiel salient. This salient juts far into the French line southeast of Verdun and has been the scene of some of the bloodiest fighting in France. The force of the German blow carried them into the French trenches but Paris says they were evicted immediately by a counter attack.

London again has been the target for a Zeppelin raid and as usual the accounts issued by Berlin and London conflict. Berlin claims that the British capital was heavily bombarded by several naval dirigibles and that batteries and vessels were struck. According to London only one of the attacking aeroplanes reached the outskirts of the city and the material damage done was slight. Eight persons were killed and thirty-six injured, according to the British version.

CONGRESS WILL ADJOURN NEXT FRIDAY IF POSSIBLE

Ignore All Threats of Leaders to Press Special Bills for Consideration
Over Protests of Administration Leaders.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Congress is getting ready to adjourn next Friday if possible, ignoring all threats of members to press special bills for consideration over protests of administration leaders. It is expected that a joint resolution to provide for adjournment Friday evening will be submitted to both houses next week as soon as the general deficiency appropriation bill has passed the house probably on Tuesday. Democratic leaders declare the resolution will be adopted and that this will operate to check a threatened fight in the senate over the Owen corrupt practices bill which aroused charges of political corruption yesterday.

Senator Smith of South Carolina intends to seek another opportunity to pass the immigration bill and he might get it thru if it could be done without provoking debate. After the deficiency and revenue bills are passed, however, senate leaders on both sides "say wild horses could not hold a quorum."

The house has the shipping bill as amended and the forthcoming revenue bill to pass the deficiency appropriation bill as soon as it gets thru the house.

"When that is done," said Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, "all general debate on the revenue bill will halt and it will be rushed thru."

If anything should happen to prevent adjournment next Friday it will be necessary for congress to stay over until the following week, as President Wilson will be in New Jersey Saturday receiving formal notification of his nomination for reelection.

Secretary McAdoo came here from Utica, N. Y., today.

ARCHBISHOP SPALDING DIES AT PEORIA HOME

NOTED PRELATE OF CATHOLIC CHURCH HAD LONG ILLNESS

End Has Been Expected Daily for Past Week—Funeral Will Be Held
Tuesday—Cardinal Gibbons May Officiate.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 25.—Archbishop John Lancaster Spalding, noted prelate of the Catholic church in Illinois and a resident of Peoria continuously since 1877 when he was elected to the position of bishop of the newly created Peoria diocese, died at his residence here this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

He had been ill for a number of years, having suffered a paralytic stroke in 1905. The end has been expected daily for the past week. His condition was borne with fortitude and his every thought was for the welfare of the church and of the many parishioners in the diocese over which he presided for years.

Bishop Spalding was elevated to the position of archbishop of Scyphopolis in 1908, this position being awarded him on account of his great work for the church and for his tremendous work for humanity. The high position was given by Pope Pius IX, who had long been recognizing the tremendous work of the prelate.

The funeral of the archbishop will be held on Tuesday at ten o'clock in the St. Mary's Cathedral over which he presided for years. It is expected that Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore will officiate.

The services will be solemnized with pontifical requiem mass celebrated by Bishop Edward M. Dunne.

The body of the archbishop will lie in state at the St. Mary's Cathedral from Sunday afternoon to Monday night.

The Most Reverend John Lancaster Spalding was consecrated Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Peoria, Ill., May 1, 1877 and resigned because of ill health, September 11, 1908. In the following May he was created titular archbishop of Scyphopolis.

He was one of the most prominent prelates of the Roman Catholic church in the middle west states and received nation-wide notice when President Roosevelt named him as one of the arbitrators to settle the anthracite coal strike in 1902. He was the author of several books dealing with labor topics, and also wrote several works on religious questions.

For two hundred and fifty years the ancestors of Bishop Spalding lived in America, the first of the name to come to the new world being a follower of Lord Baltimore. During the reigns of King Henry VIII, and Queen Elizabeth in England, the Spalding family was distinguished for its loyalty to the Catholic church.

Bishop Spalding was born in Lebanon, Ky., June 2, 1840. He was educated at Mount St. Mary's College, Cincinnati, O., and then he went to Louvain, Belgium, where he received his degree of doctor of divinity in 1863. After being ordained he went to Rome for a special course of study in the Belgian College and in 1865 returned to the United States prepared for his life's work.

He was assigned to the cathedral at Louisville, Ky., and in addition to missionary duties, he acted as secretary to Bishop Lavallee. He remained in Louisville until 1869 when at his own request he was charged with founding a parish for negroes. Before he left Louisville in 1872 he had built and paid for a church and parish house for Roman Catholic negroes.

He moved to New York shortly after the death of his uncle, the Most Reverend M. J. Spalding, the archbishop of Baltimore and devoted several years to writing a biography of that prelate. He served as an assistant priest at St. Michael's church New York, for several years and while in this position was appointed Bishop of Peoria.

REPUBLICANS CLASH IN SENATE DEBATE

Gallinger Criticises Progressive Republicans for Overthrow of Cannon

DRAW VIGOROUS REPLY

Minority Leader Predicts Return of Country to the Protective Tariff Policy

REPUBLICANS HOLD FLOOR

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The first clash of the session between so-called "old time" and "progressive" Republicans occurred in the senate today during debate on the emergency revenue bill. Senator Gallinger, minority leader, criticized Progressive Republicans for the overthrow of Former Speaker Cannon and attacks on the late Senator Aldrich, drawing a vigorous reply from Senator Gronna.

Senator Gallinger declared that certain Republicans who had sown seeds of discontent over the Dingley tariff chose former Speaker Cannon as the "Jonah" on whom to heap the burden of blame and that they preached the false theory that high cost of living was due to the Dingley tariff. Senator Gallinger insisted that Cannon had been attacked only to end an era of autocratic domination of the house and he also hotly denounced inferences that Progressive Republicans had at that time demonstrated free trade tendencies.

Republicans held the floor throughout the days of discussion. Senator Gallinger predicted a return of the country to the protective tariff policy and assailed the Underwood tariff in unreserved terms.

"This history of the ten months during which the Underwood act was operative under normal conditions," said he, "is sufficient to justify our predictions and to further put the stamp of disapproval upon the law which, but for the war would have ruined most of the industries of the United States and which, if still in effect at the close of that war, will make this country the dumping ground for the surplus products of foreign labor. In the first ten months of the Underwood law there was an increase of $88,000,000 in imports and a decrease of $342,000,000 in exports."

"Sugar factories closed down, or were operated under reduced conditions, steel mills drew their fires, woolen mills retrenched, many cotton mills were forced out of business, factories that remained open reduced their output, stocks depreciated, three million wage earners were out of employment, the largest percentage since 1894-1897, freight cars to the number of 350,000 were idle, as were the locomotives, and engineers, freight handlers, firemen and others depending upon their operation sixty percent of the railroad mileage of the country was in the hands of receivers, dividends were passed, railroad gross earnings dropped one hundred millions in the ten months, or ten millions a month, bread lines were the longest ever known and there was the greatest demand for charity. When we predicted these things we were called 'calamity howlers' but I am reciting history now."

"Disappointed and suffering citizens, when they ventured to ask for relief, were told by the president that the apparent distress was 'purely psychological.'"

"By June of 1915 our trade balance was wiped out and reversed, showing imports of two hundred and thirty three millions more than our exports. The record is certainly a terrible indictment against the Democratic party."

Senator Weeks attacked the proposed doubling of the income tax which he said was designed originally to be used only in a great emergency.

Senator Wadsworth criticized the principle of the revenue bill by asserting that if it should be followed in the future it would develop into an effort on the part of the congressmen to tax commodities which would affect their own constituents.

The New York senator called attention to the fact that suggestions of the president for emergency taxation made in his opening message to congress had been entirely disregarded. Among the commodities, he said, which the president suggested were gasoline, automobiles and iron and steel products, none of which are taxed in the pending bill.

The Democrats of the finance committee today agreed to strike from the bill the proposed stamp tax on

The first annual reunion of the Society of Indiana Redheads is to be held in Indianapolis today and every red headed person in the middle west has been invited. The attendance is not likely to meet expectations as there are so many redheaded people unwilling to admit that color.

When the mothers' pension act was placed upon the statute books of Illinois it really made the beginning for such legislation. Judge Henry Neill was the author of the law and now like measures are in force in twenty six states of the Union. There are certain imperfections in the present act but the good far overbalances and thru the pensions many fatherless children have been benefitted. As one argument for the law Judge Neill declares that fully fifty per cent of the applicants for military service are rejected because of malnutrition in childhood.

The failure of the federal board road controversy shows very clearly that the board cannot meet all the duties the law intended. The Newlands act created the board specifically for railroad work and in lesser disputes much has been accomplished, but now it is clear that there must be some further legal enactment to provide for such emergencies. Possibly a form of compulsory investigation like that on the statute books in Canada would meet conditions here.

Pass Two Billion Mark.

With the completion of this session Congress will have made a new record for expenditures. The appropriations of this session, including authority given to award contract pass the enormous total of $2,000,000,000—or to express it more intelligently, they will have exceeded 2,000 million dollars. The actual appropriations total $1,710,000,000 and to this must be added authorizations for continuing expenses amounting to $636,644,000. These figures include $79,000,000 for good roads and $60,000,000 for flood control. The appropriations for this session will exceed those of the last session by $515,000,000 and those of the last year of the Taft administration by $600,000,000.

The increased appropriations on account of national defense according to Senator Smoot, total in round numbers $265,000,000, leaving the remaining $150,000,000 attributable to Democratic extravagance. The Democrats protest against the inclusion in these figures of $50,000,000 for flood control, because it has passed the House but not the Senate, but they also predict it will pass the Senate during this Congress.

Rippling Rhymes
By WALT MASON

THE SILVER LINING.

To one who's constituted right, some solace always is in sight, whatever troubles life may bring; he'll find excuse to smile and sing. Jim Wilkins had a patch of beans and artichokes and other greens, the finest in the countryside; in it he took an earnest pride. One night "Penny" packer's cow, which has a low retreating brow went bulging into Wilkins' yard, when no night watchman was on guard. At dawn, when Jimuel arose, and through the window pushed his nose, to gaze, upon his garden sash, he found but ruin there, alas! I thought to hear him rant and swear, and see him paw and tear his hair, but he surveyed with manful grin, the wreckage that the place was in. "How thankful I should be," said he; "She didn't eat my cherry tree! She spared the clothesline and the pump; why should I have a doleful dump? I'm thankful, too, 'twas but a cow; if it had been a warthog, now, or if some big rhinoceros had come and put this stunt across, there'd not be any landscape here, so watch me smile from ear to ear." I put him in a padded cell, where he is doing very well.

DATES IN ILLINOIS HISTORY.

Aug. 26, 1818—The constitution of 1818 was adopted by the constitutional convention at Kaskaskia; it was on the basis that Illinois was admitted to the Union.

Republicans apply to the lavishness displayed by the Democrats in their handling of the government's funds. Senator Smoot declares that "If we could bring the Democratic party into a court of justice and try it under the rules of law, the evidence would be more than adequate to convict it of attempting to secure votes under false pretenses," this referring to the efforts of the administration to juggle the statistics and beloud the facts. Mr. Smoot also asserts that should the Democratic party remain in power the country would suffer "an era of unequalled extravagance, combined with inefficiency, unsurpassed."

Negro Progress

The seventeenth annual session of the national negro business league held recently in Kansas City demonstrated again that Booker T. Washington's influence still lives. It was this famous leader who organized the league. In 1900 there were two banks belonging to the league and now there are fifty one. These are but a part of the figures which might be quoted to show the advance of the negro in the business world. The negro year book recently from the press is a volume of nearly 500 pages and is issued at Tuskegee Institute in Alabama. This encyclopedia presents a vast array of evidence to show the forward steps made by the race. To quote again from the business league's figures, there are today 45,000 negro business enterprises in the country, whereas the number was only about 20,000 in 1900. In banking, building associations and institutions of like character where business ability and judgment are necessary negroes are in many instances making good.

British Finance.

Such security as the British government has placed behind its latest $250,000,000 short-term loan in this country was never before heard of, in the case of a government of the highest financial standing only two and a half years ago, is the statement of the Springfield, Mass., Republican. Collateral to the amount of $300,000,000 placed on deposit in New York (proves that the British government, in order to borrow money in a neutral market where lenders are not forced to invest in securities they may not want, is reduced to the level of any individual in the matter of credit. An unsecured British promise to pay is no longer marketable in America. This fact is not in the least discreditable to Great Britain; it shows simply the effect of that country's unparalleled financial exertions over a period of two years in carrying on the war. And the war is now more expensive than ever. In the present battle of the Somme, every shell fired costs not less than $15, and millions of shells are fired each week. If the war should still be in progress a year hence, British borrowing in this country would undergo probably further transformations of a highly interesting character. Already American loans to the English government alone amount to $550,000,000. We are steadily drawing over here England's gold supply and the sum of our securities once owned in England has been now reduced by more than $1,000,000,000 through liquidation in our market. Meanwhile English purchases of supplies in America continue on a great scale and the balance of trade, so-called, is sure to run very heavily against England to the end of the war. Our financial relations to England when peace comes will present an astounding contrast to the situation that existed in the first part of 1914.

Labor Record of Hughes

Globe Democrat: The public's reception of the recent grotesque criticism of Samuel Gompers made on two Supreme Court decisions in which Mr. Hughes joined, must have been very disappointing to the Democratic party managers, who made it public. It fell of its own weight. But the attempt justified Mr. Hughes in showing what informed labor leaders thought of his labor record when he was governor of New York. Then he was advocating policies and not merely construing laws. When Gov. Hughes was appointed a justice of the Supreme Court, the official organ of organized labor in the State of New York said editorially:

Now that Gov. Hughes has retired from politics and ascended to a place on the highest judicial tribunal in the world, the fact can be acknowledged, without hurting anybody's political corns, that he was the greatest friend of labor that ever occupied the governor's chair at Albany. During his two terms he has signed fifty-six labor laws, including among them the best labor laws ever enacted in this or any other state. He also urged the enactment of labor laws in his message to the Legislature, even going so far as to place the demand for a labor law in one of his messages to an extra session of the Legislature.

Only 162 labor laws have been enacted in this state since its election in 1777—in 133 years. One third of these, excelling in quality all others, have been enacted and signed during Gov. Hughes' term of three years and nine months.

This was not a political utterance. It was clearly a spontaneous expression of well-measured praise. He had not demagogued. He had not accepted every measure labor leaders had advocated. Those he considered impracticable or unjust he opposed. Those that could be made wholesome were amended to conform to his suggestions. He showed the same fairness he did when the Legislature, without a bit of evidence, fixed the maximum passenger fare at 2 cents a mile. He urged investigation before action instead of after. He showed the same type of mind in the insurance investigation. There was not a single question he propounded which was not necessary to bring out the facts. Never once was there any gallery playing.

That is why people believe in Hughes. He would never be guilty of forcing thru unconsidered defective legislation for temporary political effect. He would insist on laws that would work and would veto any other kind, as he often did in New York. That is the Hughes idea of constructive statesmanship.

SPEED LAW SIGNS HAVE BEEN POSTED ON STREETS

Purpose is to Have Auto Owners Pay More Attention to Law.

Special precautions have been taken by the police department to enforce observance of the traffic law and various street signs have been posted in conspicuous places. Incidentally it is understood that Commissioner Martin is planning some revision for the traffic law which will be brought before the council at an early date. The places where signs were posted were chosen Friday by Commissioner Martin and Chief of Police Davis. The signs are of various kinds with a view to meeting special conditions. One type is applicable to the streets on which school buildings are located and caution auto drivers to go slow because of the possibility of children on the highway. During the remainder of the chautauqua Motorcycle Policeman Hogan will be on duty at the corner of Hardin avenue and the Vandallia road and in that vicinity to prevent speeding and to avoid traffic congestion. The new street signs have been located as follows:

Southeast corner of Mauvaisterre and East North street.
Alley D and East North street.
Court street and Clay avenue, south side.
Brown and Court streets, north side.
Northwest corner of East and Court streets.
Diamond street and Lafayette avenue.

THE MAN FROM THE COUNTRY

The Next Best Thing

With less than half the Republican vote that Sangamon has, and two candidates to divide that vote, Morgan's chances to secure a member of the house of representatives is very slim indeed.

The next best thing is to elect "THE MAN FROM THE COUNTRY," Mr. L. S. Dunn, of Liverdon, formerly of Morgan county. He is heartily in favor of an amendment to the constitution dividing senatorial districts into three distinct representative districts; he is for a state-wide vote on the liquor question; for fair labor laws; and if elected will faithfully represent the people of Morgan county as well as those of Sangamon.

He's an Odd Fellow, a Woodman and a Presbyterian.

SIX SLIGHTLY INJURED WHEN AUTO HITS BRIDGE NEAR ALEXANDER

Party Returning to Franklin from Dance at Nichols Park—Dorothea Sargent Receives Bad Cut Over Eye.

Six young people were the victims of an automobile accident late last night while they were returning from the dance held at Nichols Park. Those in the car were Dana Swift, to whom the car belonged and Ralph Rodgers of Waverly, and Misses Dorothea Sargent, Mabel Hart and Paulina Harney of Franklin and Mrs. Fred Reuter of St. Louis. Miss Sargent received a bad cut over her eye and the others are only slightly bruised.

The accident occurred two miles west of Alexander at about 12:30 or one o'clock on a bridge just in front of Harold Strawn's house. The young people were returning from the dance held in this city and were returning presumably to Franklin via Alexander. They struck the banister of the bridge and went on across tearing the banister as they went. All were thrown from the machine which was damaged to some extent. All the young ladies were very much frightened and their screams awoke the occupants of the strawn home. Miss Sargent who was the worst injured was taken into the house and Dr. W. H. Schott of Alexander was called. A Franklin physician was also summoned.
Three wheels were knocked from the car and a Waverly Garage man, an uncle of the Rodgers boy was called to get the machine. The cause of the accident is unknown.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER UNITED AFTER SEPARATION OF SEVEN YEARS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 25.—After a separation of seven years, the residing within a few blocks of each other, Mrs. Corning, eighty and daughter of Mrs. Florence Anderson of Carlinville were reunited today, following the arrest of the aged woman's son, Fred Corning, who it is alleged kept them apart by his threats.

The old woman was found in a novel, barely able to move about. What attention she had was from her son. He kept telling her, it is asserted that the daughter was angry and did not want to see her again. He threatened his sister for seven years, with death, it is said, if she ever came to see their mother.

Republicanism Is Provine's Keynote

CANDIDATE FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL BELIEVES IN RE-PUBLICAN PARTY'S ABILITY TO SOLVE PROBLEMS

His faith in the Republican party is founded upon his belief in efficient service, Walter M. Provine of Taylorville, candidate for the Republican nomination for Attorney General, declared today.

"I believe in the Republican party, its wonderful record of achievements, its ability to solve questions of governmental policy and its future success," he said.

"I believe in honest and efficient service by public officials, that in order to render this effective they must be ready at all times to withstand any onslaught that may be made by a bi-partisan combination of these elements in both parties that continually oppose and strive to nullify and repeal safe, sane and progressive legislation. Public officials must use the power of their office vigorously to defend and contend for the preservation and enforcement of wise laws.

"The office of Attorney General is one of the most important within the gift of the people of the State of Illinois. I would manage and conduct it in accordance with the constitution, statutes and decisions of the courts for the best interests of the people of the state if elected."

Mr. Provine has served five terms in the legislature. He was the Republican caucus nominee for speaker at the last session, but was defeated because he refused to enter into a bi-partisan combine.

From Legislative Voters League Bulletin of July 20—Fortieth District (Counties of Christian, Shelby, Cumberland and Fayette)—Walter M. Provine, representative (Rep.); lawyer, Taylorville. Ending his fifth term of efficient service. First choice of the Republican caucus for speaker, but was defeated for election by the bolt of the seventeen "wets." Let the floor fight for bills simplifying court procedure and protested against increased appropriations and the deficiency measures. Made one of the best records in the Assembly.

Insurance policies against which there has been a flood of protests. An amendment to the bill by Senator Hitchcock proposes a graduated tax on newspaper print paper selling for more than $45 a ton to check the advancing price of the paper.

Senator Overman introduced amendments to provide that the proposed five per cent tax on manufacturers of materials entering into the making of munitions and especially into gun powder should not apply to agricultural products. The amendment is designed especially to exempt cotton.

FUNERALS

Smart

Funeral services for Mrs. Malinda Smart were held Friday morning at 10:00 o'clock at the residence of John Standley of Grace Chapel, son of the deceased. The service was in charge of Elder William Dyer, assisted by Elder Baxter Hale. Flowers were cared for by Misses Maude and Bessie Standley and the music was furnished by the congregation of friends present. The bearers were Charles Wilkey, Elmer G. White, J. S. Hale, Wallace Mason, William Roanney and Oliver Kennedy. Burial was made in Moss cemetery.

Farmers' Day
Afternoon

2:00 Concert—The Metropolitan Grand Quartet.

2:30 Farm Lecture—Mr. S. M. Jordan.

What our County Advisor did for me—J. W. Kirkton, Farmer, of Livingston county, Illinois.

Evening

7:30 Concert—Metropolitan Quartet.

8:00 Lecture, Birds and Bugs—J. P. Gilbert.

Moving Pictures—T. S. Scott.

This will be farmers' day as this is an agricultural district the attendance should be large. Farming is our main industry and anything that will help make better tillers of the soil should certainly be welcome. The farm lecture by S. M. Jordan will be highly beneficial to all workers on land and the experience of J. W. Kirkton with the county adviser is something every one should know. Anything pertaining to birds and bugs told by such an entertaining speaker as J. P. Gilbert will always be full of interest.

Then we are to have a new musical attraction and, judging by those already brought here, the bill will be delightfully varied by the Metropolitan quartet so come on and let's fill the big tent to overflowing.

The program yesterday was entirely different from those which have gone before but the reputation of Dr. William and Dr. Lena Sadler was such that every one who had heard them wanted to hear them again and none were disappointed except possibly those who heard so much more than they expected. The Hruby Bohemian orchestra did admirably as on the day before while the evening bill by the orchestra and the fine reading by Sarah Mildred Wilmer delighted everyone. The grave and the gay both had their tastes consulted and the number was voted up to the standard of the rest. Scott's moving pictures pleased everyone as usual. An election of directors followed the afternoon program when Rev. W. E. Spoons, Mrs. U. G. Woodman and Carl H. Weber were chosen.

Lecture to Women.

A large gathering of ladies assembled in the large tent Friday morning and the few gentlemen present on business hastened to vacate and Dr. Lena Sadler proceeded to entertain and instruct her audience for about two hours and all who heard her said she offered them words of genuine wisdom well worth hearing.

At 4 p. m. the Hruby family orchestra gave a fine program of varied music vocal and instrumental, and all who heard it were delighted. These talented young musicians have won for themselves golden opinions while in the city and they will always be welcome whenever they see fit to return.

Tragedy of Civilization.

The event of the afternoon was the lecture by Dr. William Sadler and every one who heard it declared it deserved a full report and a wide circulation for it contained truths which all should hear and know. A short outline of the address is given:

The theme was "The weak and the strong or the tragedy of civilization." "The time is coming when we shall not talk mainly of preparedness and kindred topics but of the human race and future generations. Great strides have been made in medicine and yet in some respects the medical profession has been a curse for it has saved for life hosts of unfortunates who have lived to perpetuate their species to the immense detriment of society. The doctors have been asleep in matters of heredity. Insanity and feeble mindedness have increased three times as fast as the human race in this country. Some day when a maniac kills 25 people here Jacksonville will wake up to the importance of the problem. Consumption and many kindred complaints are the result of microbes and such can be cured if time and money enough are devoted to the cause but diseases incurred by evil habits, insanity, feeble mindedness are hereditary and incurable.

Immigration Evils.

"Because there are no laws on the subject the marriage of persons so afflicted goes right on and the one or even two generations may escape the taint it goes on down the line and may break out at any time. We permit enormous immigration from southern Europe of persons tainted with feeble mindedness and insanity and they are multiplying their kind at a fearful rate. It is proposed to admit any one seemingly sound in body and possessing a little cash and

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR LATE CARL JOAQUIN

Large Company of Friends Gathered
At Family Home Where Sorrow
Reigns—Tribute By Rev. W. E.
Spoons.

Seldom does such a large company attend a funeral service as that gathered Friday afternoon at the Joaquin home on East Michigan avenue to pay honor to the memory of the late J. Carl Joaquin. The services were conducted by Rev. W. E. Spoons, who read various comforting passages of scripture and then based his sermon address upon First Corinthians, 6-13: "But some are fallen asleep." Hymns were sung by Mrs. James A. Scott and Mrs. Jennie DeFreitas, with Mrs. Grace Ferreira at the piano. At Jacksonville cemetery where interment was made, members of Camp No. 932, Modern Woodmen were in charge, E. M. Vasconcellos and Joseph Gomes serving as venerable consul and chaplain. The floral offerings were especially profuse and attested in their fragrance to the esteem and friendship in which the deceased was held.

The minister said that he could honor the young man's memory possibly more than any other because of the many acts of kindness shown in time of sickness and death. It was from this cause, no doubt, that the assemblage of sorrowing friends was so great, for many in that company owed a debt of gratitude to Carl Joaquin for kindnesses shown to them in times of bereavement.

Rev. Mr. Spoons said in part: "We are gathered to pay tribute to one of the best known and most loved young men in Jacksonville. It is hard enough to give up our friends even after we have passed thru the period of preparation which a long illness gives, but there is a greater sadness for our hearts when one of our friends is taken in the very midst of a joyous living. Such a death brings a shock to the nerves and heart. I well remember the first day I was in Jacksonville, that it was Carl Joaquin who went with me to the train as I left the city that night. The friendship which began then has lasted thru the years, and I came to love him as a true and faithful friend. His home life was ideal and he measured up fully as a loving and devoted father, husband and son. I do not mourn him as a member of my church for he did not hold his membership there, or simply as a fellow citizen, but as a dear friend and no one knows under these circumstances how difficult is my position today. But I feel that I have a duty to bring a message to those who are left behind.

"It is useless for us to say today that our friend has been a good citizen and honest man, for his life is eulogy enough in that regard. He was always ready to serve his friends and many are those, even beyond the limits of the city, who can testify to his desire to aid them in the time of trouble. On many of these errands of mercy he walked miles into the country and in this particular his good work was an inheritance from his father. But we can well dwell for a few moments upon the words of the text, 'But some are fallen asleep.' Those who are friends of Christ fall asleep and pass on. Sleep is the fit ending of a weary day and so the figure fits well with the conditions of life. Sleep is not painful but often brings the end to pain. In life we are necessarily in the midst of pain, but sleep brings an end and is a balm to hurts of mind and body. If we were denied sleep we would seek and pray for it, and so if there were no end to our earthly life it would be a desired thing.

"Little did our friend think when he said goodby to his mother and started away to meet the duties of his work that it was in truth a goodbye on this earth, but our lives are beset with dangers and fatalities. There comes the consoling thought that when we awake from our final sleep in the other world that we will find no dangers—no fatalities—to beset us there. There comes to us the thought at such a time that our friends who die and leave us temporarily are not destroyed. Their death means a transition to another estate. They go to sleep in this world and awake in joy everlasting in the other world. We can thank God that there is this ray of hope when the sorrows of death touch our hearts so keenly. Sometimes we toss about upon beds of pain before sleep comes, but we awake with no struggle and so it is in the final sleep. We will awake on the other side with calmness of spirit. Carl, our friend, fell asleep at the noon hour a few days ago and awakened in the other world refreshed. The best way for us to keep alive the memories of our departed friends is by emulating their example.

"The most conspicuous characteristic of this young man was the love and tenderness he showed toward those in distress and I can honor him today as no other of his age for this virtue. This young man was useful, industrious, truthful, honest, but his desire to serve those in need was the greatest virtue. If from his untimely death some soul is so touched as to turn to God, then Heaven has not only honored his life but his death, and his death has not been in vain. So let us be prepared for the hour of sleep and keep our houses in order, for we know not the day nor the hour when some accident may befall us and our final summons may come. How much better is it for the faithful to fall asleep than for the wicked to die in their sins. Today let us honor this young man's memory, remembering his devotion to his mother and to his family and friends, and his great heart which took in all those who had need of sympathy and help."

T. M. TOMLINSON

Another hymn was sung by Mrs. Scott and Mrs. DeFreitas and then Mr. Spoons offered a brief prayer. It was an unusually long cortege that moved from the residence to Jacksonville cemetery and there Mr. Joaquin was laid to rest beside the other members of the family who passed away years ago. The many beautiful flowers were cared for by Miss Sue Sage, Mrs. Arthur Weeks, Mrs. Effie McMurphy Misses May Hoban, Mollie Donovan and Florence Kennedy. The bearers were H. H. Vasconcellos, Thomas Duffner, J. Carl Vasconcellos, George Saly, Charles R. Knollenberg and J. W. Walton. The beautiful ritualistic service of the Modern Woodman was carried out and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Spoons. It had been the wish of the family to have Rev. M. L. Pontius assist in the service but he was out of the city.

NEW LUBRICANT RESISTS HEAT PREVENTS RAPID SEDIMENTATION

Ordinary oil breaks down under the terrific heat of an automobile engine. Within a few hours, black sediment is formed which partially clogs out the remaining liquid from the friction points where lubrication is most vital. Such under-supply of oil causes friction between the metal surfaces, intense heat, loss of power and expensive repairs.

The new lubricant that resists heat prevents rapid sedimentation, insures generous lubrication, and, except where mechanical faults exist, prevents carbon.

Relative Oil Destruction
The contents of the bottles shown, illustrate the relative durability of ordinary oil and of Vedol the new lubricant that resists heat. Vedol deposits only a small fraction as much sediment as ordinary oils.

There is a fundamental difference between ordinary oils and Vedol. Ordinary oils are unstable and therefore unserviceable because of non-heat-resisting chemical structure. Special processes of manufacture developed by this company and the use of Pennsylvania paraffine-base crude oil give Vedol, the new lubricant, its unusual chemical structure, and its remarkable heat-resisting ability.

Make this test
Clean out the crank case. Fill with kerosene. Run the motor about thirty seconds under its own power; then draw out all kerosene and refill with Vedol. Now make a test run over a familiar road—up steep hills and along straight, level stretches. Keep a record of oil and gasoline mileage. You will find that your motor has altogether new pickup and hill climbing ability. Vedol enables you to get the maximum mechanical efficiency from your car and to reduce your expenses. Get a five-gallon can of Vedol, and make this convincing road test.

Lady Baltimore Cake

The Most Popular Cake This Season

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

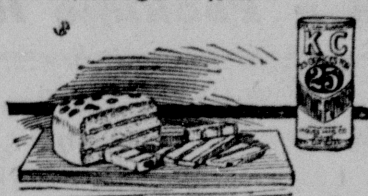

This is considered by many cooking authorities the finest cake that can be made, though in reality it is not at all difficult.

K C Lady Baltimore Cake

One cup butter, 2 cups granulated sugar, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoonful rose water, 3/4 cups flour, 3 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder, whites of 6 eggs, beaten dry.

Cream the butter and beat in the sugar gradually. Sift together, three times, the flour and baking powder, and add to the butter and sugar, alternately with the milk and rose water. Lastly, add the egg whites. Bake in three-layer cake pans. Put the layers together with the following frosting.

Note—The cake is a large one and sells at Women's Exchanges for $1.25.

Frosting for Lady Baltimore Cake

Three cups granulated sugar, 1 cup boiling water, whites of 3 eggs, 1 cup chopped nuts, 1 cup chopped nut-meats, 5 figs cut in thin slices.

Stir the sugar and water until the sugar is dissolved, then let boil without stirring until the syrup from a spoon will spin a long thread; pour upon the whites of the eggs, beaten dry, beating constantly meanwhile. Continue the beating until the frosting is cold; add the fruit and spread upon the cake.

OLD LADY FEELING FINE

After Taking Four Bottles Of Cardui, The Woman's Tonic.

Cobden, Ill.—"Having used Cardui, the woman's tonic, in my family, for a number of years," writes Mrs. Kate Metz, of this town, "and always with such good results, I feel it my duty to write you about it, so that you may publish my letter.

My mother is living with me, and she is 52 years old. For the last three or four years, she has been troubled with a great deal with cramping spells, and for days at a time, she would have a severe headache.

She read of how much Cardui has helped other women who were sick and ailing, and decided to give it a trial. She began taking it three times a day, and since then has been getting along simply fine.

Mother only used four bottles of Cardui, but she is no longer troubled with the severe headaches, and her stomach is so much stronger that she can eat most anything.

We both feel that any lady who is not strong and well, would be greatly benefited by the use of Cardui. Try Cardui. NCBA

POINTS IN FEDERAL-AID ROAD ACT DISCUSSED

Secretary of Agriculture Refers To Important Features of the Newly Enacted Measure.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—At a meeting of the state highway officials held August 15, 1916, in Washington, to discuss tentative rules and regulations for carrying out the Federal-aid road act, the Secretary of Agriculture made the following statement:

"The federal-aid road act and another law—the cooperative agricultural extension act—that the Department is charged with the duty of enforcing, establish a new principle in American government, the principle of cooperation between Federal and State officers. They are the only laws I recall which recognize and insist upon this principle. They are therefore very significant. Heretofore Federal and State officers have too frequently looked at one another across the line, sometimes with apprehension as to what the other was going to do or think, sometimes with jealousy, not infrequently with friction. We serve the same people. They have a right to the best services of the representatives of both jurisdictions. You represent the States. I represent the Federal Government. Together we are charged with the execution of a very difficult and very important law.

"I need not emphasize before you the importance of good roads. Most intelligent people who think about good roads know that they are essential to comfortable living, essential to proper community development especially to the development of rural life, to efficient production and orderly marketing of farm products, to good schools, and to the development of a satisfactory rural life.

"Many people, however, do not appreciate this, and I have occasionally met road officers who, when the importance of good roads was emphasized, have said: 'Yes, but they cost so much.' Apparently they have not thought how much more roads cost, not only in dollars and cents, but also in all those indirect ways for which one can make no definite calculation.

Large Expenditures for Roads

"This law appeals to me as of especial importance, not so much because it carries with it out of the Federal Treasury an appropriation of $5 millions of dollars, not because it will be met by an appropriation of 75 million or more out of State funds, if all the States accept the act, but because as great as is the aggregate, it is relatively insignificant in comparison with amounts the States are now annually expending and will spend during the period covered by the act.

"I remember that, on one occasion, when I was speaking to a public official about the road bill, and suggested that we ought to begin with a modest initial appropriation of three, four, or five millions of dollars, he expressed surprise and said that such an amount would not get us any; where, that the expenditure by the nation of a few millions of dollars for roads would be merely trifling with the matter. I asked him if he knew what the people of the nation were contributing annually for road building, that the nation was already expending the equivalent of nearly half of what the Panama Canal has cost. Of course he did not. And the majority of people do not realize that the nation is expending approximately $250,000,000 a year for roads.

A Dollar's Result for Each Dollar Expended.

"The main question that I am immediately concerned with, that the people of the nation are immediately concerned with, is whether we shall get a dollar's result for every dollar we expend for roads. I am quite sure that if we do so and we can convince the people that we have done so, they will be willing to put much more money into good roads where they are needed. Therefore, the matter of administering this law, of devising good road systems, of careful selection of roads, of formulating projects, of developing plans and specifications, of having all matters considered on their merit by competent men, seem to me to lie at the root of this business. If, as the result of this act, the people are induced fairly to realize the necessity of placing skillful and experienced men in charge of road building and road maintenance, a great advance will have been made, and the efforts of those who labored to secure the legislation will have been rewarded.

Employment of Experts.

"I assume, as a matter of necessity, that this law will require the employment in every State of experts. This word is very much misunderstood and abused, as the word 'theorist' is. I frequently hear a contrast drawn between the theorists and the practical men. There is no basis for it. The classification ought to be into good theorists and bad theorists, or practical men and impractical men. A really good theorist is highly practical; and so is a real expert. The public is somewhat suspicious of experts, because, I think, so many people pose as experts who are not. When the public sets an expert aside, it is worth while to inquire carefully into the expert's claims and competency.

"I repeat that this act will necessitate trained intelligence in the service of the State as well as in the service of the Federal Government. This act requires the States to accept it. That, as I understand it, implies the assent of the State to every provision of the act. One of these provisions is that projects, plans, specifications, and contracts shall be approved; and I have a suspicion that plans and specifications will not be approved unless they are submitted by people who know about such things. So the assent of the State involves the calling of trained men into the service of every State which is now without them.

"The law involves another thing, the pledge of the faith of the State to meet in full the Federal appropriation for the entire period covered by the act. The State legislature may not be able to appropriate money one year for the whole period covered by the act, but it can pledge the faith of the State to meet the financial provisions of the act for the period covered by it. This is as it should be. It would be unfortunate if it were otherwise. It would be wasteful not to make plans at the outset for the full period covered by the act; it would mean piecemeal road building and much dissipation of effort and misdirection of funds. These requirements hold whether the State as such, under the existing law, may engage in road building or not. The provision that where the State may not engage in highway improvement the money may be secured if counties raise an amount sufficient to meet the apportionment to the State involves the necessity on the part of such counties of raising an amount sufficient to meet the full apportionment for the State, the existence of a highway commission, and compliance with all the other terms of the act. I speak of this because there are evidences that individual counties think that, if they raise a certain sum of money, they will of necessity get a corresponding sum from the Federal Treasury. That is not my construction of the act and not the one that will be likely to prevail.

"The duty will rest upon you gentlemen who represent the States of informing the people as to the meaning of this legislation and as to the procedure under it, because the initiative under the law lies with you. We are directed to cooperate with you; with the State thru the State highway department. It is your duty, if your State accepts the law, to agree with us on roads to be constructed and to submit projects, plans, and specifications. Therefore, individuals, associations, and counties will of necessity take up such matters directly with you, and we shall hear from them thru you for the most part.

Roads and Trails for the National Forests.

"There is a section of the act which contemplates only parts of the country. The nation owns great areas, especially in our western States, and is acquiring areas in certain others of our states. The nation owes a duty to the people living in the National Forests or near them. In many instances communities struggling for development have been compelled to rely too exclusively for necessary improvements on taxes from private property or on private contributions. It is true that under the law we have heretofore been setting aside for road improvement 10 per cent of the gross receipts from the forests. This has been no inconsiderable sum, nearly three-quarters of a million dollars since the act was passed, and approximately $278,000 for the present fiscal year. But in some sections there are no receipts from the forests and communities have been left to struggle as best they could. The Government in many instances is the owner of the greater part of these assets, and it is only equitable and wise that the Federal Government should assist them. So there is appropriated by the act $10,000,000, a million for 10 years, for the construction of roads and trails in or near the National Forests, with the understanding that communities interested will cooperate financially and otherwise. Those of you who represent forest states, as a matter of course, will think of coordinating work under your direct State road funds, and those arising under the general provisions of the road act with the work to be undertaken under this special appropriation.

Legislation to Aid Distribution

"I am hopeful that great benefit will accrue to the nation from the wise and efficient administration of this act. It is one of a series of measures recently conceived and enacted for the development of rural life. We began by formulating a law on similar lines, the cooperative agricultural extension act. We then enacted the cotton futures law to give the cotton farmers and dealers standards to trade on and to secure supervision of the operations on futures exchanges, a similar law to establish standards for grains and to regulate interstate and foreign commerce in them, and the warehouse bill for the better storage of staple crops and for the emission or a warehouse receipt which should be good collateral for loans. We have given an opportunity to National banks to lend funds on farm mortgages, and have extended the period of maturity for farm paper and adopted the Federal farm loan act. All these lie in the field of distribution as does this road act, which lies at the foundation of satisfactory and orderly marketing.

Attitude of Department of Agriculture.

"I have come here today mainly to meet you and to express my appreciation of the very ready response you have made to the request of the Department to give it information and the benefit of your experience in framing the rules and regulations for the administration of the Federal-aid road act. I am a very great believer in co-operation, and I think one saves much trouble by beginning to cooperate at the outset.

"I appreciate the keen interest you have shown in the shaping and development of this legislation. I shall do everything in my power to facilitate your tasks, to aid you in the discharge of them so far as the

BIGGEST SURPRISES OF MEET

Geers Hides His First Winning
Rate of Meeting With Napoleon
Direct.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 25.—The closing day of the Grand Circuit race meeting at North Randall today furnished one of the biggest surprises of the meeting when Billy Durfee placed Esperanza, a rank outsider, first in the summary in the 2:06 trot.
In other events the favorite had fairly easy going. The pacing division of the champion stallion stables proved easy for Peter Look. "Pop" Geers rode his first winning race of the meeting when, with Napoleon Direct,
he took the free-for-all pacing feature.

Allie Watts, slight favorite over Binville in the first section of the 2:13 trot, disposed of her field in straight heats while in the second division Pittsburgh was victorious.
Altho Pittsburgh made a bad break in the final mile which was won by Ben McGregor, he proved himself the class of the field by taking the two opening heats.

Ben White drove Lee Axworthy an exhibition mile, but only equalled his record of 2:00 1-4 instead of beating it.

PURE FOOD RULES TO BE ENFORCED AT STATE FAIR

Purpose is to Afford Greater Protection for the Public.

Pure food and proper sanitary conditions will be assured patrons of the Illinois State Fair which opens at Springfield, Sept. 15. Stricter measures than ever before are to be enforced to safeguard the public health. If any substitute for the genuine is offered for sale, it must be plainly labeled as such.

Announcement to this effect was made by officials of the State Fair Association following a communication sent them by Commissioner W. Scott Matthews of the Illinois Dairy and Food Department.

The unusual hot weather experienced this year as well as the large number of persons who annually attend the event, are pointed out by Commissioner Matthews as factors calling for a strict compliance with the laws by all restaurant operators and vendors of food and beverages.

In their determination to deal most effectively with the situation, the State Fair Management has set a precedent by requiring all concessionaires to sign an agreement that they will live up to the laws. This is to be incorporated in contracts for privileges. All concessionaires must sign the agreement before a permit is issued to them to operate on the grounds.

Similar protection for the health and comfort of visitors at all county fairs held in Illinois is sought by Commissioner Matthews. Over fifty of these events will be held in the next sixty days. Letters containing the same recommendations have been sent to the secretaries of the county fair managements with requests for prompt action.

The recommendations applying to the State Fair and the county fairs as outlined by Commissioner Matthews are as follows:

Recommendations

All food must be thoroughly protected from dust and flies.

Ice cream cones and lemonade receptacles must be thoroughly covered. Candies, candied popcorn in bulk, and similar confections must not be made on the grounds unless their manufacture is conducted in quarters especially approved for the purpose.

All substitutes for the genuine, including artificial drinks, must be plainly labeled as such.

Places serving butterine must display placards to this effect.

Meat must be kept in good condition by the use of ice. A government meat inspector shall be assigned to watch all meat markets on the grounds.

All griddles for frying purposes must be thoroughly covered, placed at least three feet from the front counter and be approved by inspectors.

No hamburger shall be cooked until ordered by a customer.

All dishes must be thoroughly washed in hot water and thoroughly rinsed in clean boiling water.

Dirty dishwater must be kept in covered pails, and when filled must be emptied in sinks provided for the purpose, at the close of the day all pails must be emptied whether filled or not.

Garbage must be kept in covered receptacles, properly disinfected, and frequently removed and emptied.

Every precaution should be adopted to prevent the multiplication of flies.

Waiters shall be cleanly attired when serving the public and all employees must comply fully with sanitary regulations.

All eating places must be located a safe distance from stable refuse.

In a letter to Commissioner Matthews, B. H. Heids, General Superintendent of the Illinois State Fair, declared that every precaution would be exercised to protect the health of the visiting public. Special inspectors will be detailed by the State Fair management, and these will be instructed to co-operate fully with inspectors from the Illinois Dairy and Food Department.

CAR AXLE BREAKS.

Simeon Fernandes experienced what might have been a very serious accident Friday afternoon had he been driving at any great rate of speed. Mr. Fernandes, with two other people and his little grandchild from Chicago, were driving up South Main street just south of Morton avenue, going north. Mr. Fernandes had sent a new driver out with a load of coal and fearing that he had lost his way was hunting for him. He was driving not over five miles an hour when he felt the back end of his car give way. He looked around and immediately put on brakes, when he found that the back axle of the car was broken. Mr. Fernandes considers himself very fortunate that no one was hurt.

Ralph Ford, Stella Ford and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Parks of Greenfield, visited Friday at the home of R. G. Lazephy on West North street.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS

Miss Helen Maitland Armstrong was the designer of five remarkable stained glass windows which adorn a room in Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's house in New York called the armory, and which are universally pronounced a most unusual work of art. Miss Armstrong is the daughter of David Maitland Armstrong, himself a leading American artist, now in his 81st year, and who was at one time consul-general to Italy. His talented daughter was born at Florence during his residence in Italy as U. S. representative.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, who will be 36 this month, is often referred to as the queen with the finest complexion in Europe, and people often wonder how she manages to keep the wonderful girl's freshness of her skin. It is all due, it appears, to her having adopted the Dutch Indies custom of taking lemon baths. A dozen lemons are squeezed into the bath, with the addition of eau-de-cologne and various scents, making a highly invigorating and cleansing compound which is now popular not only with the Queen but with Dutch society beauties in general, who as a class are also favored in the matter of skin texture and tint.

Among the women who are making good in the business world, Mrs. Anna F. Wood of Chicago holds an enviable place. She is manager and sole owner of two large tearooms and candy shops which bring her in net earnings of $25,000 a year or more, an income which rivals many a railroad magnate's or bank president's. All this has been accomplished in seven years, during which time she has been in business for herself. Previous to that she had worked for others nineteen years, coming from Germany a poor girl and beginning as a menial with the simplest tasks in such an establishment as she now conducts. She started her own first establishment with her hard-earned savings, and as fast as the business made money for her she put it into the aggrandizement of the place, which grew at such a rate that at the end of a few years she opened up a second one. The business includes the manufacture and sale of candies, serving of luncheons and afternoon tea, and her candy trade is so large that it reaches all parts of the United States.

Miss Olwen Lloyd George, eldest daughter of the famous British statesman who directs his country's destiny in the war, is described as her brilliant father's pal, with whom he is particularly fond of going on camping excursions in the woods, "roughing it", fishing, cooking their own meals and tramping along with their portable tents like a couple of Gypsies. Aside from this sympathy of temperament between the great Welshman and his daughter, she has shown remarkably helpful tact in husbanding her father's strength for his great tasks. She knows just what amount of work his strength will allow, and it is a legend with secretaries that Miss Olwen will appear as if by magic at the psychological moment, and very gracefully and politely but firmly end his day's work. He has so learned to count upon the wisdom of her judgment that he complies as gracefully, knowing that he is in good hands.

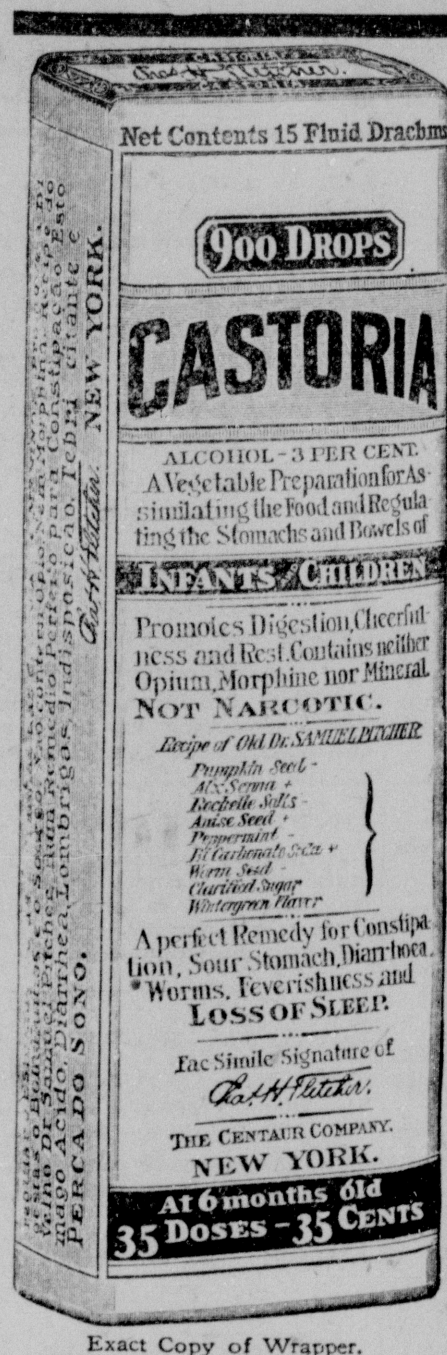

Miss Emily Balch, professor of economics at Wellesley College, who was the only woman delegate to the Stockholm Neutral Conference for continual mediation, which grew out of the famous Ford peace excursion last year, has been in this country for a brief time after residing abroad since going over with the peace ship. After conferring with Henry Ford, the sponsor and financier of the conference, Miss Jane Addams and other American peace advocates, she intends sailing back this week for Stockholm to continue her work for peace. Like Miss Addams, Miss Balch is a member of the Women's International Committee for Permanent Peace, and was one of the leading American figures at the famous congress of peace women at the Hague, at which Miss Addams presided. From this congress she was appointed a delegate to the Russian and Scandinavian governments. She has long had a leading rank as an economist among American educators. Her studies have covered a wide field, in this country, in France and in Germany, and the books embodying her observations have authority. One, entitled "Our Slave Fellow-Citizens", describing the influx from Slavic Europe to the United States, and written in a spirit most sympathetic to the Slavs, is most often quoted.

IN MEMORIAM

In remembrance of Mabel, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Clark, who passed away Aug. 19, a friend has contributed the following:

The little bed is empty now,
The little clothes laid by,
A mother's hope, a father's joy
In death's cold arms doth lie.
Go, little pilgrim, to thy home,
On yonder blissful shore;
We miss thee here but soon will come
Where thou has gone before.

We had a little treasure once,
She was our joy and pride;
We loved her, ah, perhaps too well,
For soon she slept and died.
All is dark within our dwelling,
Lonely are our hearts today;
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever passed away.

Those little lips so sweet to kiss,
Are closed forever now;
Those sparkling eyes that shone so bright,
Beneath that pearly brow;
That little heart that beat so high,
Free from all care and gloom,
Are hidden now from those she loved
Beneath the silent tomb.

Dear little hands, I miss thee all
Thru the day;
Wherever I go all thru the night
How lonely it seems,
For no little hands wake me out of My dreams.
I miss them all thru the weary hours,
I miss them as others do sunshine and flowers;
Daytime or nighttime, wherever I go,
Dear little hands, I miss thee so.

a little learning when we should exclude dukes and earls if they in their families are tainted with these hereditary diseases.

"Medical science has been a curse to society in that it has saved many persons to become drains on the community and has done nothing to prevent them from multiplying their kind. If we do not call a halt future generations will have to have the weak care for the strong. If parents do not teach sex hygiene then the state should do it. Each year 800,000 young men come to maturity and fully half of them are diseased. Men will not be elevated till women take a higher stand on the subject and refuse to tolerate men who go astray. We should be more careful about red blood than blue blood.

"On one subject there is widespread error and that is the facts regarding pre-natal influences. There is absolutely no such thing as a birthmark. All that seem to be so caused are merely coincidences. Nothing can affect the child after conception until birth, but if there are insane or feeble minded and strays away back even, then there is ever the danger of it cropping out in the children. Generally feeble minded mothers have nine children each while the intelligent don't average more than 1-1-2 so that unless we call a halt it is easy to see where we shall land.

Society's Debt to Itself.

"Sparta didn't permit the weak children to live at all. I do not believe in that; give all a fair chance but when you have a case with a family record of heredity insanity feeble mindedness then it is time to do something. All such should be sterilized and not permitted to perpetuate their species. Society owes this to itself; either do this or segregate them which wouldn't be practicable.

"I visited a large school in a certain city once and they showed me with greatest pride their department where five little deaf mutes were being taught by the best teacher they had in the city. I visited the parents of the three brothers and sisters and found they too were deaf mutes and all the rest of the children they would have would no doubt be inferior some way and the best teacher in the building would be assigned to them. I heartily approve of all that is done to raise and rescue the fallen but society has some rights. In nearly every city 85 per cent of the prostitutes are weak minded and they cannot be led to lives of virtue for their will power and ability to resist temptation are weak.

The Jukes Family Record.

"The noted Jukes family in New York costs that state a million a year with its fifteen hundred descendants while the family of Jonathan Edwards, the great New England divine, has hundreds who rose to eminence and fame. National temperance and prohibition are prophesied soon but did you ever think if drugs and alcohol are taken from these wayward ones they will live much longer? Take away the alcohol and drugs and then make it impossible for them to perpetuate their species. I believe in slum working; in raising the fallen, in helping the weak minded but society owes itself something and that is to see that these do not increase."

Election of Directors.

The constitution provides that three directors of the chautauqua shall be chosen each year and a meeting was held following the lecture. The bylaws were amended so that the holder of even one ticket may participate in the election. It was also decided to change the bylaws and have the officers chosen within two weeks of the close of the chautauqua. The directors whose terms had expired were Mrs. U. G. Woodman, Messrs. Bernard Gause and Charles R. Knollenberg. The chair appointed Messrs H. J. Rodgers, J. W. Priest and J. F. Berry tellers. The bylaws provide that the ones receiving the highest numbers be declared elected. Those chosen were, Rev. W. E. Spoons, Mrs. U. G. Woodman and Carl Weber. On motion of Mr. Gause the vote of the first three named was declared unanimous.

Evening

A large audience gathered in the big tent in the evening and enjoyed a cabaret program. It consisted of music by the Hruby family who gave a fine variety in their selections and pleased the vast gathering most thoroughly. The reading by Mrs. Sarah Mildred Wilmer was exceptionally fine and fully appreciated. Scott's moving pictures ended the program.

Notes

Speaking of the increase of insanity. In 1864 about two thirds of the present main building at the Jacksonville hospital served for the whole state. Now the capacity of the institution here has been increased many fold while others have been erected at Kankakee, Elgin, Watertown, Anne and Bartonville and one is being built at Alton.

J. E. Osborne had a small auto accident which delayed his arrival Friday afternoon so that he missed the lecture.

If auto drivers would be a little more careful to keep on the oiled part of Hardin avenue they would raise far less dust. At times when many are traveling over that highway dust adds materially to the danger. One hardly realizes how many automobiles are owned in this vicinity till he sees them lined up in the park in the afternoon.

Many times we hear how good it would be if only we had that footbridge so tents could be pitched on the hill among those trees.

Judging from appearances camp life is surely refreshing and restful and many will return to their home duties far better in mind and body than when they came.

The big water tank is the best patronized of anything on the grounds and the management are to be commended for supplying pure, wholesome water.

Quilt parties or loafing parties are quite popular and a fine way in which to enjoy a few hours. Scattered all about the grounds under the trees one sees small parties taking their ease and enjoying the hours in fine style.

The different rest rooms are well patronized and supply all opportunity for repose and quiet.

A good many visitors from neighboring towns pay highest compliments to the chautauqua and especially to the park which affords such fine opportunity for the enterprise. Seidom has a city such excellent facilities for a chautauqua and the tickets for next year should all be taken today.

The anti-tuberculosis people are actively at work propagating their good doctrines and doing all possible in their beneficent work. Their tent is admirably supplied with material for the purpose and Miss Coale is on hand busily engaged in propagating the cause and carrying on the work.

The tent of the Woman's College is very neat and one naturally regards it as a sample of the homes over which the young ladies will eventually preside.

The playground is about the busiest place on the grounds since the weather turned cool. There are lots of little folks and they make best use of it.

If the park only had a regular bathing and wading pool which could be used by all what a feature it would be.

Seeing an electric motor whizzing away in the Farm Supply tent one is led to observe how the world moves. Within the memory of some of the older ones present the Pulliam dam and a water power saw mill were the features of that locality, the dam being where now is the handsome bridge.

"Pat's Retreat" is the novel name given one of the tents.

All remark on the courteous conduct of the park police. It is well deserved. The Journal reporter is under special obligations to Richard Moody for favors shown.

In retiring from the directorate of the chautauqua Messrs Gause and Knollenberg well deserve the encomium, "Well done, good and faithful servant." They were pioneers in the enterprise and have ever worked hard for its success and they have the satisfaction of seeing their efforts produce good fruit.

Now let everybody get behind the directors and see that the 2000 tickets for next year are subscribed for in a hurry; the superior quality of this chautauqua is an earnest of what may be expected next year.

Just think of from 2 1-2 to five cents for an entertainment or lecture for which fifty cents to a dollar would usually be paid. They ought to sell five thousand tickets for next year at $1.50.

MR. RANSON'S WILL

The will of the late Charles W. Ranson was filed for record yesterday in the office of the county clerk. This document was drawn July 30, 1913, and the witnesses to the signature were O. F. Buffe and R. M. Hockenbush. The testator left his household goods and other personal property to his wife and she is also given for life the residence property at 1507 Mound avenue. It is directed further that the remainder of the property is to be divided into equal shares among Mrs. Ranson and their three children, Homer, Zella and Rose Ranson. The son is to receive $500 less than the others because advances made to him exceed the advances made to the others by that sum. Mrs. Ranson is named as executrix and has full authority to convert the real estate into cash in order to prepare for the distribution.

Considerable attention was attracted some time ago by the outfit of Steve the Dogman. He was in the city a short time and then obtained a position with the workmen who are in camp on the Chapin State Aid road. Since he left the city he has been camped there until yesterday when he hitched up his dogs and departed. His departing was rather perfunctory. Some days ago some one took his favorite spade and since that time he has never been satisfied. He finally accused one of the men with stealing it and yesterday demanded either the spade or blood. The workman rolled up his sleeves and prepared for blood, but Steve decided he had staid with the gang long enough anyway and he is no more seen digging ditches on the State Aid road. His many conflicting stories caused many to view with suspicion the suggestion that he is a wealthy Californian.

Very recently he examined a new shipment of caskets and pointing to one said, "That is the kind of casket I would like to be laid away in when my time comes." MISS MABEL HAYDEN, UNLAWFULLY HELD AT OLD FAMILY HOME

Services Conducted By Rev. Mr. Nicholson—Deceased Surrounded By Friends When End Came.

Funeral services for Miss Mabel Hayden were held from the residence of her sister Mrs. Clara Smith 523 West State street Friday morning at 10 o'clock in charge of the Rev. George Nicholson. A solo, "I Will Guide Thee With Mine Eyes," was given by Mrs. Percy Jenkinson. There were many floral offerings and these were cared for by Mrs. J. P. Brown, Mrs. A. B. Williamson, Mrs. M. E. Gilbert and Miss Jane Young. Interment was in Diamond Grove cemetery, the bearers being, Ralph Ford, Clarence W. Adams, Harry Oakes, Roy Oakes, John W. Lazenby, Henry Richardson and Edward Ranson.

Rev. Mr. Nicholson read the 23rd Psalm at the beginning of the service, together with suitable passages of scripture. He referred to the earnestness and fine spirit with which Miss Hayden met the duties of life and the fine spirit that continually characterized her. Her interest in the church and kindred organizations was mentioned and the minister said that in all things she lived faithfully. During Miss Hayden's illness in California she found a great deal of comfort in a poem by Ella Wheeler Wilcox, "Beyond," and the minister read the beautiful verses which are given below. Last Sunday morning a brief funeral service in memory of Miss Hayden was held at a little chapel in Long Beach. The service was in charge of Dr. Arthur W. Rider, formerly a resident of Jacksonville and at that time an active member of the Baptist church. He was frequently in the Hayden home and was quite well acquainted with Miss Hayden and her parents. His wife, formerly Mrs. H. M. Hammill, also knew the family quite well. It so happened that Mrs. Elizabeth Stebbins was in Long Beach at the time and attended the service, as did Miss Askew and Mrs. Leake, both former residents of this city. While in California Miss Hayden was in the home of her friend, Mrs. May Strong and all the tender care and comfort of a home was given her. During her final illness there were friends about to express their solicitude and for all kindly offices that love can suggest. While Miss Hayden's condition had been considered serious for some time, it was believed that she was improving and plans had been made for her cousin, Miss Nettie Hayden of this city, to meet her at Rochester, Minn. Miss Hayden's death coming thus unexpectedly, brought great sorrow not only to the friends in California, but in even greater measure to the friends and relatives here.

Beyond.
It seemeth such a little way to me
Across to that strange country,
The Beyond;
And yet not strange, for it has grown to be
The home of those of whom I am so fond.
They make it seem familiar and most dear,
As loving friends being distant seemeth dear.

So close it lies, that when my sight is clear

I seem to see the gleaming of that strand;
I know I feel that those who've gone from here
Come near enough to even touch my hand.

I often think but for our veiled eyes
We would find Heaven right round about us lies.

I cannot make it seem a day to dread
When from this dear earth I shall journey out
To that still dearer country of the dead.

And join the lost ones, so long dreamed about.
I love this world, yet I shall love to go
And meet the friends who wait for me, I know.

I never stand about the bier and see
The seal of death set on some well-loved face,
But I think—One more to welcome me

When I shall cross the intervening space
Between this land and that one there—
One more to make the strange Beyond seem fair.

And so to me there is no sting to death,
And so the grave has lost its victory.

It is but crossing with abated breath
And white, set face, a little strip of sea,
To find the loved ones on the other shore,
More beautiful, more precious than before.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox.
